

Neural networks

Neural networks have the ability to represent concrete input as high level concepts by building layers of knowledge representation

